One of a kind

is the customized travel program we'll create for your company.

At American Express One, we focus on ways to tailor our services to meet your needs, not the other way around. And we dedicate all of our resources to serving the specialized business travel needs of our customers.*

Our experienced account managers take a proactive role in identifying ways to apply our resources to enhance your travel program. And they'll recommend innovative technology, such as our online booking engines, to make business travel more cost-effective for your company and easier for your travelers.

With dedicated resources and expertise, American Express One can create travel programs that are one-of-a-kind, not "one-size-fits-all." And we may just be a perfect fit for you.

One simple step is all it takes to recover funds from unused electronic airline tickets.

Our proprietary Ticket TraxSM service finds and refunds unused airline e-tickets, helping you get back travel dollars that would have been forfeited to the airlines. Ticket Trax automatically initiates and handles the e-ticket refund process, so there's no additional work required by travelers or the travel manager.

Detailed monthly reports identify unused e-tickets and the dollar amount refunded. And you have the option of sending travelers a fax notification to let them know that the refund process has begun.
