

Welcome Home.

These words never sounded better to the ten elderly adults who now live at our new Pleasant Valley residence. Leaving the institutional setting of the former Wassaic facility, these individuals will now live in a modern, welcoming home that incorporates many wishes of the individuals and their families in a safe and caring environment.

Finally, at home.

We've added those personal touches that truly make a house a home, such as an open space layout, natural sunlight, and a comfortable lounge with a nice window view of the neighborhood greenery. Individuals could pick their own room colors and add accessories such as family photographs or a favorite stuffed animal, and are looked after by a compassionate staff trained in special needs care.

You'll soon receive a brochure with more information about the residence and our Welcome Home campaign to raise much-needed funds for the facility. And look for an invitation to our Open House reception in the spring.
